THE LA SCALA ACADEMY (Accademia Teatro alla Scala)

The La Scala Academy, today chaired by Giuseppe Vita and directed by Luisa Vinci, is considered one of the most authoritative institutions for the training of all professional figures working in the performing arts: artistic, technical and managerial. The educational proposal is divided into four departments (Music, Dance, Stage-Laboratory, Management) for about thirty courses attended each year by over 1,600 students.

The training course combines theoretical and practical lessons in the classroom with an intense activity “in the field”, according to the philosophy of learning by doing, thanks to concerts, performances, exhibitions, opera productions, not only on the national territory. The teaching is entrusted to the best professionals of the Teatro alla Scala and the most qualified experts in the field.

In addition to the Teatro alla Scala, the founding partners are the Lombardy Region, the City of Milan, the Milan Chamber of Commerce, the Berti Foundation, the Bracco Foundation, the Milano per la Scala Foundation, the Luigi Bocconi University and Intesa Sanpaolo. In addition to these, there is a significant group of supporters, including foundations, associations, companies and private individuals, who allow La Scala to provide scholarships and encourage various formulas aimed at facilitating the attendance of studies.

BRACCO FOUNDATION

The Bracco Foundation was born from the heritage of values built up in over 90 years of history of the Bracco Family and Group, primarily from corporate social responsibility. The Foundation aims to create and spread expressions of culture, art and science as a means for improving the quality of life and social cohesion, with specific attention to the worlds of women and of the young.

The multidisciplinary approach and the integration of knowledge are important quality criterias both in planning and in the selection of activities.

“The Bracco Foundation has a special tie with the La Scala Academy” says Diana Bracco, President of the Bracco Foundation. “In 2012, we decided to focus our commitment also on the new generations in all sectors, creating progetto Diventerò – Bracco Foundation for the young, which offers training opportunities through an articulated program of scholarships, degree awards and training internships. In this context, the partnership with Accademia Teatro alla Scala was born, with whom we share first and foremost the value of culture as an educational tool capable of improving the quality of life and strengthening social cohesion. Over the years Bracco Foundation has supported the La Scala Academy in several initiatives, not only in Italy, but also abroad: concerts, exhibition projects and dance performances, such as the “Cinderella” ballet with music by Sergei Prokofiev, commissioned by the Bracco Foundation for Expo Milano 2015. This special concert at Expo 2020 Dubai on the Italian National Day, will offer these young talents a prestigious international stage”.
